OBSERVATIONS.

Say It Now.

Speak the kind word, do the kind act. Ere the years have onward sped, Give me all the love and sunshine, While I'm living, not when dead. Tell me I have made life brighter, By the loving words I've said, Tell me I have cheered and helped you, While I'm living, not when dead. O the way is rough and lonely, And my wounded heart has bled; Cheer me when the way is dreary, Love me now, not when I'm dead. In the grave there is no heartache, We'll forget where sorrows led, Speak some words of hope and comfort 'While I'm living, not when dead.' Tell me I've been true and faithful, Tell me now ere life is fled; In the grave I can not hear you, Say it now, not when I'm dead.—Mrs. M. J. Fultz, in Everywhere.

WAKING UP—Recent legislation by the State and National Governments looking to the preservation of our forests makes it evident that the people have begun to realize that they have not only to look to the timber supply for posterity but for themselves, and while this awakening is somewhat late in coming it is "better late than never." The 1906 session of the Kentucky Legislature enacted a law providing for the State Board of Agriculture, Forestry and Immigration. The State Board has succeeded in getting the co-operation of the United States Forest Service in the study of forest conditions of the State. A thorough investigation of forest conditions is in progress and when completed Kentucky will have an excellent inventory of its lumber resources. The manner in which the forestry problem has been approached indicates that the people of the State realize that the ultimate solution of the impending timber scarcity must depend largely upon how timber resources are handled. It stands to reason that if young trees are destroyed there will soon be no timber supply. If proper attention is given to forestry the present condition of affairs can in half a century be materially bettered.

CLEAN UP—The Mayor of the City of Springfield has issued a notice to the citizens of the town to cut the weeds around their premises and remove all debris. This notice should not only be read by every citizen of the city but practiced as well. In order to maintain the city's present neat appearance and preserve the general health it is necessary that matters of this nature should receive attention. Now that the attention of the citizens has been called to this condition of affairs all should promptly proceed to "clean up" in some places the weeds are indeed an eyesore. The city officials are very diligent in looking after the sanitary conditions of the town, and deserve to have their efforts indorsed by a hearty co-operation of the town public.

UNPARDONABLE.—The recent hard rains, have in some parts of the county done some damage to the turnpikes because of the fact, that in some places, the water has been turned from the ditches into the middle of the road. Notwithstanding the fact that the ditches were properly opened a few months ago, so that all water would be carried off the roads, they have in a few months, many obstructions to divert the flood from these channels into the pikes. A little observation while traveling our roads will reveal the fact, that this is caused by a careless, neglectful and destructive public. Trees are trimmed and the brush thrown into the ditches to accumulate. This forcing the water to flow into the road causes more damage in one hour than the year's money on the section will repair. More of brush is carried by the water to the nearest culvert where it lodges and obstructs the free passage of the water. At other places hogs are run at large and fed upon the public road, here we find the ditches filled with corn cobs and the sides of the road torn out where the hogs have followed their natural habit. At another place the fences are so close to the road on each side that there is no room to work the road. Every time an old fence is replaced by a new one, it is placed just outside the old one, until this gradual encroachment has decreased the width of the roads to a great extent. But the parties responsible for the damage are not willing that they should cause this damage, without doing something to compensate the public for the loss it has sustained on their account, for they always repair the damage and redress the wrong by cypress the Road Supervisor.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Bitten by a Copperhead.

While gathering wild flowers on the Hill west of Ashertown Friday afternoon, Mrs. George Fowler was bitten on the hand by a copper head snake. The wound is now in a bad state, and she is in a bad state of mind. She is now doing nicely and unless some other complication arises her recovery is assured. She is the widow of George Fowler who died several months ago of appendicitis.—Echo.

Notice to Taxpayers

CITY TAXES are now due and the penalty will attach on all city taxes that are not paid prior to July 1, 1909. The tax books are now in the hands of L. B. Cain, Treasurer and all taxpayers are hereby notified to call on him at the First National Bank and pay their taxes before July 1, as the penalty will attach on that day. Under the Ordinances of the City no one will call on you for your taxes but you are required to call on the city treasurer.

John W. Lewis, Mayor

Lived 152 Years,

Wm. Parr—England's oldest man—died the third time at 120, worked in the fields till 132 and lived 20 years longer. People seldom youthful at 80. James Warig of Sparrow, Ky. shows how to remain young. "I feel just like a sixteen-year-old boy," he writes, "after taking six bottles of Electric Bitter. For thirty years Kidney trouble made life a burden, but the first bottle of this wonderful medicine convinced me I had found the greatest cure on earth." They're a godsend to weak, sickly run-down or old people. Try them. See Haydon Robertson Druggist.

New Use For Corn Cobs.

Every tobacco grower knows the uncertainty of getting a stand of tobacco after the tenth day of June. As a rule the seasons are light after that time and the sun blazes down and dries the ground and withers the plants. To supply the necessary moisture I learn many of the Blue grass farmers have in the past few years have adopted the following method when planting tobacco. After the golden day of June. Empty barrels are provided and filled with corn cobs, and water is then poured in to fill the barrel to the brim. The cobs absorb the water like a sponge, and the grower sticks one of the wet cobs in each hill by the side of each plant. This plan is said to insure a stand during the driest and hottest weather.—Henderson Gleason.

The Big Head

is of two kinds—cognitive and big head that comes from a sick head ache. Does your head ever feel like a giant and your brain feel loose and sore? You can cure it in no time by acting on your liver with B. Allen's Bitter. Isn't it worth trying? It's the absolute and certain relief you'll get. Sold by The Red Cross Drug Store.

Scab Infesting New Wheat.

Farmers of the county are not so jubilant over the prospects for a bountiful wheat crop as they were three weeks ago. As the time of harvest draws near the effects of the scab are more noticeable and it is the general opinion that the injury resulting from its work has been more detrimental than at first supposed. In some fields the wheat appears to have escaped its insidious effects, while in others the damage is plainly discernible. Two fields side by side illustrate this freak of nature, one having every sign of a most healthy and well filled head, while the neighbor bears the marks of the visit from this destructive scourge.

It is thought at the present, however, that the county will show up with a fair yield of wheat at harvest time and one that will brighten the features of the farmers with that "smile that won't come off."

The scab has its origin in the late frosts, which were plentiful this season.—LaRue Herald.

Many weak nervous men have been restored to health by Foley's Kidney Remedy as it stimulates the kidneys so they will eliminate the waste matter from the blood, impurities depress the nerves, causing nervous exhaustion and other ailments. Commence today and you will soon be well. Pleasant to take.

Deep in Debt.

The State of Kentucky owed on June the first just $144,354.59 more than it had money in the treasury with which to defray its indebtedness. At the close of business on May 31st, there was a total balance of $309,020.18 in the treasury against outstanding warrants issued by the Auditor for $513,980.75, which leaves the deficit above named staring the State administration in the face, and as Treasurer Farley stated, several days ago, this money on hand and in the treasury was so small that it was mostly to pay amounts due to the two normal schools, and for work on the new Capitol, so that the State's indebtedness is really over half million dollars this early in the year.

The amount in the treasury as apportioned between the three funds, shows balances for sinking and School funds but a deficit for the General Expense fund, the exact amount being as follows: sinking fund, $171,678.80; school fund, $241,617.57; general expenditures fund, deficit, $43,502.49.—Frankfort News.

LIGHTNING

Strikes Trees and Killed Several Head of Stock

The recent electrical storm has given concern to some people at least in Washington County during the past week. On the afternoon of Wednesday, June 9th, Mr. Robert McIntire, near McIntire was plowing in his cornfield when the storm came on. He stopped his cultivator and was sitting on a small walnut with his two little boys standing close by. Suddenly and almost before they were aware that the storm was upon them a bolt of lightning struck the walnut in two places leaving it to splinters. One of the boys and both horses fell, the boy struggled and arose to his feet to fall again, this occurred about three times before he was able to stand on his feet. One of the horses was instantly killed while the other was only stunned. Mr. McIntire and his other son did not feel the effects of the lightning at all.

On Sunday morning a severe electrical storm passed through the Litsay neighborhood. A large tree on the farm of Mr. Still Stigall was not by lightning and a valuable cow and a very fine Jennet mare under the tree at the time and both were killed. The storm was accompanied by a very heavy rain which for a short time fell in torrents.

The Farmer Has Not Made High Prices.

Henry Clews, one of the wisest men of the financial world, says with much less authority on agriculture than finance. He declares that while "the present high cost of living is not entirely due to the farmer, nevertheless he is largely responsible and ought to be frankly told so." If this were accurate, the farmer would merely be getting back a little of his own which merchandizing methods, have taken from him for many years. But it falls far short of accuracy. Present high prices of food are fundamentally due to deficiency in supply and more or less manipulation of the merchandizing machinery. Farming for the past three years has been a fight with untoward seasons. Perhaps not as much as possible has been done to neutralize these unfavorable conditions, but there are weather circumstances which no farming, however scientific and energetic, can successfully combat. The irrigation farmer is popularly supposed to bid defiance to the elements, and yet last year in some of the best irrigation districts it was so dry in the early season, that the land could not be broken in readiness for its artificial supply of water. Coincident with this succession of unfavorable seasons has been a distinct increase in the demand on the land for sustenance, and belated this burning of the candle at both ends prices were bound to rise.

But the retail prices of foodstuffs have by no means represented a proportionate share to the producer. Not many bushels of the farmer's wheat participated in the high prices which characterized the coming of the May deal. Most of it had passed into the hands of other holders before the big bulge, and the same is measurably true of oats and corn, although the grower of the latter crops, who is much less a specialist than the wheat farmer, has of late years been coming more and more into a position of financial independence, and has in many instances been able to hold for the high price.

If his farmer had the grain in the bins and cribs it would have been shipped to market the past month in a volume that would have taxed freight facilities. But he is on hand-to-mouth basis at home. Nothing has been more amusing than the fatuous patience and prophecies of the bears on corn that after plant big trainloads of grain would be rushed to market. The corn farmer has been buffeted about enough the past few years by enforced caution. If he has grain to sell—and it is a safe gamble that he has not—he will wait before offering it until there is more definite assurance of a crop than is afforded by a season from one to four weeks late.—The Breckers Gazette.

LEBANON LOCALS.

From the Enterprise

The Marion circuit court convened in special session yesterday, Judge Thurman presiding. There are seven county cases on the docket and all of them, it is thought, will be heard before tomorrow evening. If the work is not then completed the court may, if necessary, remain in session for three days longer. The limit for the term is six days.

The special term of the Marion circuit court, called for the purpose of trying the cases of the Commonwealth of Kentucky against Mueller, Wathen & Co., will begin next Monday with Attorney McKenzie Moss, of Bowling Green, presiding as special judge. The jury has been summoned, and it is thought everything will be in readiness to take up the cases immediately after court has convened. There are about eighty indictments pending against the distilling firm, charging "selling liquor without license." Attorney Moss was appointed by Gov. Wilson special judge to try the cases.

While weighing lambs at the farm of Hardin Yowell, above Bradfordville, Wednesday afternoon, a party composed of Mr. Yowell, T. A. Wayne, J. W. Isaacs and James Abertson came near losing their lives by a bolt of lightning. Just as the lightning struck could not be ascertained by the gentlemen, but Mr. Yowell and Mr. Wayne, who had their hands on the scale beam, were knocked to the ground. Mr. Yowell's arm was considerably burned. The other gentlemen were shocked, but were not injured.

A brood mare owned by J. C. Yates was struck and killed by the lightning at the home of W. A. Thornton. The barn on the farm of James Wathen was also struck, but no serious damage was done.

Probably the heaviest rain that has fallen in this section in years occurred Wednesday afternoon, and while very little damage was done in Lebanon and immediate vicinity, the loss in the southern part of the county, and in many of the adjoining counties, will amount to thousands of dollars. In this city the heaviest rain fell about one o'clock; while that which wrought the greatest damage south of here occurred between four and five o'clock. Much fencing was washed away on the farms in the neighborhood of Philadelphia, and both wheat and oat fields were badly damaged. Near Philadelphia the C & O railroad track was washed twenty-five feet off the roadbed for a distance of almost two hundred yards. The train due from Greensburg at 5 o'clock did not reach Lebanon until after one o'clock the next morning. The track was also badly washed in several other places between Philadelphia and Greensburg. The rain was accompanied by a great deal of lightning, but so far as learned no serious damage was done.

The storm occurred on the second anniversary of the cloudburst at Gradyville, Adams county, which resulted in the loss of almost a dozen lives.

Candidate For Senate.

Omaha, Neb., June 11.—William J. Bryan is in the race for United States Senator from Nebraska. This statement was made yesterday by Richard L. Metcalfe, editor of the Commonwealth. Mr. Metcalfe says Bryan will at once begin formulating a campaign. His name will go on the primary election ballots, he is hoping to show he is the choice of the people. Then, the plan will be, if indorsed, to require all legislative candidates to pledge him support.

Prominent Democrat Dead.

Lawrenceburg, Ky., June 10.—G. W. ("Dinky") Walker, aged 61 years, died at his home here early this morning from a paralytic stroke and other complications. He was one of the most widely-known men and democrats of this section, and had been Clerk of the Anderson Circuit Court for over twenty years. Last fall he received the nomination again without opposition. His wife and one daughter survive.

$10,000 Bonus for President LeBus.

Frankfort, Ky., June 11.—Clarence LeBus, president of the Burley Tobacco Society, will receive $15,000 salary for his services as such from October 1908, to October, 1909. If he is able to make a success of this year's crop he will receive a salary $25,000 bonus, making the salary $50,000 for the year. Win or lose, however, he will get $15,000 for the year ending in October next. He received $24,000 for the year 1907 and 1908.

This is the straight account of just what the Burley Society agrees to give President LeBus as compensation for his work, said Commissioner of Agriculture, M. C. Rankin, who has just returned to his office here from the board meeting at Winchester.

He gave out the first information of the $10,000 bonus for LeBus in the event he succeeds with this year's crop. Commissioner Rankin says that the Burley Society's district has been increased from forty to fifty counties this year, ten more raising Burley tobacco this year than ever did before. He said that splendid reports from the pooling of crops came from the counties except four, Henry, Washington, Fayette and Woodford. In these outlook is said.

Commissioner Rankin has written a letter to President LeBus and will urge before the District Board that a complete revision of the organization be made, beginning with a precinct organization in each county as a unit. He proposes that the precinct members elect a precinct chairman; that all the precinct chairmen elect the county chairman or representative from the county in the district board. In this way he believes the organization will be built up from the people.

They Wouldn't Like It.

How would any merchant like a competitor in whom the government was so much interested that it would allow him to do all his soliciting by mail without paying postage, permitting him to use the regular government official envelopes to send out his circulars and catalogues in, and then permit him to ship his goods to the customer free of charge? We fancy they wouldn't like it much. Well, that is just the position of the local printer to-day. The government printing office is running full time with a large army of printers at government expense, printing envelopes in opposition to the printers, and thus sending them out over the country free of charge, and thus taking away that which justly belongs to them. Only the larger firms can take advantage of this government liberality, for the smaller firms cannot afford to invest as much in envelopes as it takes to buy 1,000 stamped envelopes; and thus it is that the small concern is discriminated against by the government to the advantage of the larger ones.—Liberal (Mo.) Enterprise.

Game of Farmyard.

If among your flock there is one person who makes himself extremely objectionable to the farmhands or farmhands, this is an excellent game for putting him in his place.

The master of the ceremonies states that the present company must all fashion themselves to be the dominant of a farmyard. He says that he will whisper to each in turn the particular animal he wishes them to imitate.
Then at a given signal when he declares his intention they must all imitate together the noise of the animal they are supposed to be.

He then whispers to each in turn apparently the name of the animal they are to represent. In reality what he really whispers is "don't forget to imitate." When he comes to his real victim, however, he whispers: "The donkey's bray as loud as you can."

The youth imitates and promises himself to attract general attention from the readers of his performance. The master of the ceremonies then cries out: "All ready, now then!" Every one imitates perfectly silent except the happiest youth, who cowers himself with confusion and ridicule by the noise of his side.

Mrs. Johanna Murphy died at the home of Mrs. Shannahan on last Thursday of old age. Mrs.
Murphy was born in Ireland more than 80 years ago. Early in life she was married to the late Mike Murphy who preceded her to the grave 13 years.
About fifty years ago they came from Ireland to this county and settled in the St. Rose neighborhood. Funeral services were conducted Friday at St. Rose.

The Entertainment next Saturday night, by Miss Graham's Dramatic Art Class, and Miss Martin's Music Class, the program of which appears on another page of this issue, promises to be one of the best that has been presented here for some time. The cast of characters consists of the best local talent, and all who attend will receive their money's worth. Seats are now on sale at the Red Cross Drug store at the low price of 25 and 35 cents.

ers will be held Friday and Saturday of this week. The colored teachers, Friday and Saturday of next week.

The colored teachers who were examined to May have not, is yet, received their certificates.

Narrow Escape.

An accident which might have been a very serious one, occured on last Tuesday. Misses Eunice O'Nan Sarah O'Nan and Miss Bright, of Lexington, were on their way to the St. Catharines Commencement driving a spirited horse, when near Mrs.
Teresa Mudd's, below town, the horse became unmanageable and dashed between a buggy going in the same direction, and a wagon driven by John Tallius, coming in the opposite direction. The buggy was overturned, and the three girls thrown to the pike. Mr. Louis Rogers, who was on the scene, took them into his buggy and drove them back to Miss Katie Herlieth's, where a physician dressed their wounds. Though each suffered several severe bruises and cuts, fortunately none were seriously injured. After several hours all were taken to the home of Mr. H. M. O'Nan, father of two of the girls.

Base Ball.

The Local Base Ball Team has been re-organized. Up until the present time the team has been seriously handicapped because of the fact that many of the best players have been away at school where they have won laurels on the ball diamond.
Now, however, the boys are at home and we predict for the team a most successful year.
Many games will be played with the teams of surrounding counties and teams of the county.
Manager W. E. Green and Captain Harry Shultz are very successful in their plans of success.
The line up is as follows: Perry Marks c, Will Robertson p, B. P. Simms 1b, Mike Simms 2b, Joe Hogerty 3b, Rich Spalding ss, C. Cooper rf, Rich Kelly cf, Harry Shultz p and 1b, Louis Berry and Tom Colvin substitutes. The first game to be played by the new team will be at Bardstown tomorrow when they will meet the Bardstown nines. A large number of rooters will be on hand to help win the game.

The Springfield boys will also play the Louisville Stars at High School Park next Wednesday.

Horrible Death

Ed Moran Falls on Saw and is Instantly Killed.

Ed Moran, a colored man well known in Springfield met death in a horrible manner yesterday afternoon, at the saw mill of Mr.
Sam Maupin, on the farm of Mrs. Teresa Blanford, in the St.
Rose neighborhood. He was off-bearing at the mill, and had taken a large slab from the carriage and attempted to throw it on a pile across the belt, but miscalculating the distance he threw it on the fast moving belt instead. The heavy timber was instantly hurled back with terrific force sending the unfortunate man before it on to the buzzing saw, which rolled him over and over as it frightfully mangled his body, it being entirely severed in two places, his left foot being thrown forty yards from the mill. An undertaker was sent for who went to the mill where the mangled remains were gathered from the saw pit and placed in a coffin and brought to town last night.

Many weak, nervous men have been restored to health by Foley's Kidney Remedy as it stimulates the kidneys so they will eliminate the waste matter from the blood. Impurities depress the nerves, causing nervous exhaustion and other ills which commence today and you will soon be well. Pleasant to take.

school Friday after having taught a very successful session.

There was no ball game at this place Saturday on account of rain, however there will be one Saturday as Thompsonville will be here.

The younger boys have organized a second team and are prepared to meet all comers of their size. The game between them and the boys of the Grady Orphanage last Saturday was called off on account of weedy conditions.

We have been informed that the "rag weed" team has at last awakened from its slumber and covered itself with glory by defeating the strong Fredericksburg nine by the score of 7 to 6.
We certainly are glad to know that there is some one for them to defeat. Their captain has informed us that they will play the Bloomer Girls in the near future.
